

OUR CITY, THE CAPITAL OF TURKEY:ANKARA

PIRİNÇ HAN

I wanted to start with Prinç Han meaning ‘the inn of rice’ Because it’a place that touches your heart with its lovely rooms and indulgent people.

It has been built in 1738. On the time of Ottoman Empire, people used to bring rice here and buy them. After the fire of the city rich people settled here and lived.

Now there're some sale things which remind us of old Turkish culture. Here's the photo of the inn's corridor.

Sculpture Of Hittites

It was built in 1973 to memory of Hittit Civilization which had lived in Ankara in ancient ages. The sculpture symbolises the Sun of Hittites.

ANITKABİR

Anıtkabir is the mausoleum of our country's founder, M. Kemal Atatürk. His grave and peculiars are in mausoleum.

This on the photo is the miniature of Antikabir.

This is the part that shows Struggle of Independence with the sound effects.

Atatürk's Grave

Atatürk's Car

- The Old Turkish Grand National Assembly-
It has been used until 1960.
Now, It's a museum called 'Republic
Museum.'

‘The Monument of Victory’ was built for the women who helps Turkish soldiers on the term of wars.

SAINT TEREZA CHURCH

This church is for catholics. Every Sunday, the ceremony is conducted in French.

The old houses from Ankara

The ruins of Roman Bath

There're graves of Roman people and there is a bath. Bath has developed warming system if we compare to ruins of its time.

10100 d

LAHIT KAPAĞI
Bizans Dönemi
(Env. No: 10100)
SARCOPHAGUS
Byzantine

Kocatepe Mosque in Ankara

VARIOUS VIEWS IN ANKARA

ATAKULE

BOTANIC PARK

BOTANIC PARK

Prepared By Asena Odabaşı